Trump's Tariff Surge Hits Auto Industry

- President Trump's latest round of tariffs—some exceeding 104% on Chinese imports—went into effect just after midnight. Several carmakers responded by closing factories, laying off workers, or shifting production overseas

Middle-Class Dining in Decline

- A cultural piece explored the disappearance of affordable restaurants, asking: Where will we eat when the middle-class restaurant is gone?

- Countdown to April 20: Trump's Border Decision Looms

- Trump was expected to receive a report from the Secretaries of Defense and Homeland Security regarding conditions at the southern border. This report could trigger the use of the Insurrection Act of 1807, granting him authority to deploy military forces domestically.

- NBC's Meet the Press: Deportation Clash with Courts

- A federal judge threatened to hold the Trump administration in criminal contempt for defying court orders related to mass deportations. The Supreme Court temporarily blocked deportations under an 18th-century wartime law, citing due process violations.

t. Saturn quincunx n. Mars (April 20, 2025)

•Speculation Over Martial Law

- Some outlets explored whether Trump might declare martial law, citing his January 20 executive order and the 90-day deadline that landed on April 20. Critics warned of expanded military powers and suppression of dissent, especially in light of controversial deportations and executive orders.

These stories reflect a tense moment in Trump's second term, where constitutional boundaries, immigration policy, and civil liberties collided.
